

Illustration from “Emma Lea’s First Tea Ceremony” – Written by Babette Donaldson & Illustrated by Jerianne Van Dijk

In this story, Emma Lea’s friend Sam introduces her to his family’s way of sharing tea, to their special teahouse and their beautiful Japanese garden. The Japanese tradition of Chado is a peaceful experience and Emma Lea tastes new foods and a new kind of tea, Matcha.

Where did your ancestors come from? Do they have special tea traditions?
